FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 9, 2016

Governor's Office Of Youth, Faith And Family Launches Substance Abuse Prevention Program

"Healthy Families – Healthy Youth" Program Designed To Prevent Substance Abuse

PHOENIX – As the new school year gets underway, the Governor's Office of Youth, Faith and Family is announcing the launch of the "Healthy Families – Healthy Youth" substance abuse prevention pilot program for seventh grade youth and their families.

The pilot program will run in all 15 counties throughout the month of September offering early education and proven best practices across the state of Arizona.

The average age when Arizona youth begin to use an addictive substance is now 13 years old — and, with 90 percent of addicts starting to smoke, drink or use other drugs prior to age 18, it is clear that that early intervention and education is a must.

"The best way to treat addiction is to get ahead of the problem and prevent it," stated Governor Ducey. "Bringing families together and educating them about the realities of substance abuse is one of the best ways to do that."

"One thing is clear: we must prevent the first use," stated Debbie Moak, director of the Governor's Office of Youth, Faith and Family. "Substance abuse is a serious and growing problem and deserves to be treated as such. This pilot program is one of the many steps we're taking to let people know that they don't have to fight addiction alone."

The "Healthy Families – Healthy Youth" pilot program is a back-to-school night of education for seventh grade youth and their families funded through the Substance Abuse Mental Health Services Administration Substance Abuse Prevention Block Grant. The program will be hosted after a regular school day and will provide families with age-appropriate substance abuse education and the opportunity to develop a family substance abuse prevention plan.

Subject: Start by Believing Workgroup

Good morning,

In November of 2012, the Governor's Commission to Prevent Violence Against adopted the Start by Believing Campaign offered by End Violence Against Women International and began encouraging communities and organizations around the State to participate. Start by Believing is a public awareness campaign uniquely focused on the response to sexual assault. Recently, several concerns have surfaced regarding the Start by Believing Campaign and whether it is appropriate for criminal justice agencies to participate. The concern is that the Campaign creates the perception of bias against the accused, which could be used by the defense to impugn investigators.

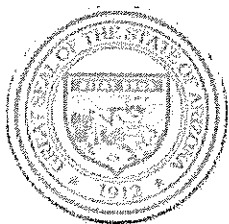

Recognizing both the important message conveyed by the Start by Believing Campaign and the veracity of the concerns, the Governor's Commission to Prevent Violence Against Women is convening a Start by Believing Workgroup to build consensus and foster ongoing collaboration throughout the state. Given your expertise in this arena, the Governor's Commission to Prevent Violence Against Women would like to invite you to be a part of the Workgroup.

The Start by Believing Workgroup will meet on the following dates (teleconference will be available):

- August 10, 2016
- August 18, 2016
- August 25, 2016

We appreciate your dedication to serving victims of sexual violence and hope that you will be able to participate. Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

I have asked that Cindi and Rachel stop sending emails to jurisdictions discouraging their participation in the Start By Believing Campaign until we can all get together and try and find some common ground. I would ask that you extend her the same courtesy and limit emails like the one below going forward. The email "war" of words only makes it harder to work together and MCAO is a major player in this arena. Furthermore, I have worked with both Cindi and Rachel for several years, and they are good and honest prosecutors and have trained many of the forensic interviews and investigators in the State. I have sent her your contact information and think we should get together to discuss. Both Cindi and I are available the week of June 13, would you have time to meet that week?

She responded with this after I reached out to her and several other County Attorneys with information that there is a couple of individuals contacting SBB agencies and raising concerns about the campaign. Thank you, Chief. The attached explanation should be helpful in allaying doubts about the training.

I am very supportive of the SBB campaign. As a prosecutor for the last 34 years, I have watched our justice system make great strides in the courtroom away from blaming the victim. None of this lessens our burden of proof nor suggests we do not support our constitutional belief of innocent until proven guilty. The guilt suffered by a victim of sexual violence cannot be understood by most of us. That we train our detectives to “start by believing” in order to build rapport and a supportive environment is something we should all be proud of.

Subject: Start by Believing Campaign

Good Wednesday morning. A prosecutor from the Maricopa County Attorney’s Office and a former prosecutor from that office have raised concerns about law enforcement and forensic examiners adopting and supporting the Start by Believing campaign. Both have stated that this message runs counter to the presumption of innocence and opens the investigation up to defense challenges. They are sharing these concerns with agencies that have adopted the SBB message, and in one communication, even threatened to serve as defense experts to challenge the investigations coming out of these agencies as biased.

Their argument appears to be based on the belief that the Start by Believing movement promotes believing victims throughout the entire criminal justice process, what I would call blind belief. This is not the message that End Violence Against Women International provides in their trainings or materials nor supports when espoused by other individuals or organizations.

It is called START by Believing for a reason. We do seek to counter the fear victims have of not being believed, and it is a community message designed to change our response as family and friends of a victims however it is also designed to change the response of law enforcement and other criminal justice professionals to create an environment that victims can feel or sense is safe to report. Research is clear that the fear of not being believed is a primary concern for victims and a major reason why they often do not report to authorities or anyone else. This is the same philosophy that led to the creation of Family Advocacy Centers - we want victims to feel safe and in a supportive environment, to report what happened to them and stay engaged with the criminal justice process so we can hold perpetrators accountable.

Yet there are pragmatic reasons for the SBB message as well. For law enforcement, it is a tactic that may be extremely helpful in gathering information. Victims are not likely to share much information with an officer they think does not believe them. More information is clearly better than less, and once the information is obtained, it can then be evaluated as to its value and credibility. We teach that in a criminal investigation of sexual assault, that law enforcement should follow the evidence, but the only way to get that evidence in the form of a thorough victim statement is to Start by Believing. If the case is weak, then a decision from the prosecution to not take it forward is appropriate. No one wants to see a person tried for something they didn’t do, and our system has a number of very important checks and balances throughout the process to safeguard against that possibility. Any detective who blindly believes a victim, contrary to evidence, should be aggressively challenged in court, but the reality is a prosecutor would not permit it to get that far.

I encourage all in Arizona who have adopted the Start by Believing message and campaign not only their agency, but also for their community, to consider that we support the rights of any defendant in the process in fact, because this is such a powerful information gathering tactic, it is also in the best interest of a defendant who is innocent of the allegations. The best way to get to the truth of what happened is to conduct a thorough investigation. This is how I train on SBB and how EVAWI presents it.

The Start by Believing message is a legitimate tactic in sexual assault cases, along with new approaches to victim interviewing based on the neurobiology of trauma, the adoption and application of victim rights (one of which is the right for victims to be treated with respect and dignity), and the utilization of victim advocacy throughout the entire criminal justice process. Throughout the long history of criminal justice response to sexual assault, it is clear that we have proceeded from the philosophy of Start by Doubting. While we are not suggesting anything that would erode the fundamental belief in a presumption of innocence, we are in fact advocating for an approach that will lead to better investigations, a protection of victim rights, and the first real opportunity to change our societal environment in which those who sexually assault typically do so with impunity.

On the Start by Believing website (www.startbybelieving.org), under the menu tab "The Message" there is a document titled, "Can I Really Say That?" which helps explain our position with respect to this campaign. I have also attached that document to this e-mail.

I would agree with those who say that these cases are challenging, but I disagree that a detective - whose agency has supported and adopted the SBB message and tactic is going to lose credibility in cross examination by defense attorney witnesses. Talented attorneys will always find a way to attack an investigate, but that does not mean the argument is correct or that the position cannot be defended soundly.

I bring this to each of you as you have supported the concept of Start by Believing. Because you are hearing from individuals seeking to derail this campaign, I ask you to consider what it really is – and is not – about, and how the training is actually being presented by EVAWI.

We do seek to counter the fear victims have of not being believed, and it is a community message designed to change our response as family and friends of a victims however it is also designed to change the response of law enforcement and other criminal justice professionals to create an environment that victims can feel or sense is safe to report. Research is clear that the fear of not being believed is a primary concern for victims and a major reason why they often do not report to authorities or anyone else. This is the same philosophy that lead to the creation of Family Advocacy Centers - we want victims to feel safe and in a supportive environment, to report what happened to them and stay engaged with the criminal justice process so we can hold perpetrators accountable.

Yet there are pragmatic reasons for the SBB message as well. For law enforcement, it is a tactic that may be extremely helpful in gathering information. Victims are not likely to share much information with an officer they think does not believe them. More information is clearly better than less, and once the information is obtained, it can then be evaluated as to its value and credibility. We teach that in a criminal investigation of sexual assault, that law enforcement should follow the evidence, but the only way to get that evidence in the form of a thorough victim statement is to Start by Believing. If the case is weak, then a decision from the prosecution to not take it forward is appropriate. No one wants to see a person tried for something they didn't do, and our system has a number of very important checks and balances throughout the process to safeguard against that possibility. Any detective who blindly believes a victim, contrary to evidence, should be aggressively challenged in court, but the reality is a prosecutor would not permit it to get that far.

I encourage all in Arizona who have adopted the Start by Believing message and campaign not only their agency, but also for their community, to consider that we support the rights of any defendant in the process in fact, because this is such a powerful information gathering tactic, it is also in the best interest of a defendant who is innocent of the allegations. The best way to get to the truth of what happened is to conduct a thorough investigation. This is how I train on SBB and how EVAWI presents it.

The Start by Believing message is a legitimate tactic in sexual assault cases, along with new approaches to victim interviewing based on the neurobiology of trauma, the adoption and application of victim rights (one of which is the right for victims to be treated with respect and dignity), and the utilization of victim advocacy throughout the entire criminal justice process. Throughout the long history of criminal justice response to sexual assault, it is clear that we have proceeded from the philosophy of Start by Doubting. While we are not suggesting anything that would erode the fundamental belief in a presumption of innocence, we are in fact advocating for an approach that will lead to better investigations, a protection of victim rights, and the first real opportunity to change our societal environment in which those who sexually assault typically do so with impunity.

On the Start by Believing website (www.startbybelieving.org), under the menu tab "The Message" there is a document titled, "Can I Really Say That?" which helps explain our position with respect to this campaign. I have also attached that document to this e-mail.

I would agree with those who say that these cases are challenging, but I disagree that a detective - whose agency has supported and adopted the SBB message and tactic is going to lose credibility in cross examination by defense attorney witnesses. Talented attorneys will always find a way to attack an investigate, but that does not mean the argument is correct or that the position cannot be defended soundly.

I bring this to each of you as you have supported the concept of Start by Believing. Because you are hearing from individuals seeking to derail this campaign, I ask you to consider what it really is – and is not – about, and how the training is actually being presented by EVAWI.

Hi Ms. Moak,

As I told Daniel below, American RadioWorks is working on a documentary about sex trafficking in the U.S. that will air on more than 300 public radio stations around the country this spring.

I'm particularly interested in Arizona because of the dramatic change in the ratio of women vs. men arrested for prostitution-related crimes in the last decade. (72% female arrests in 2004, 39% female in 2014).

Was this an intentional flip that came about from a focus on arresting more buyers and facilitators vs. women in prostitution? If so, I wonder if anyone from your office would be willing to do a phone interview about steps the state has taken to make these changes.

Please feel free to connect with me here by email, or by phone at . Thanks so much.

Subject: Question from American RadioWorks

Hi Mr. Ruiz,

I just left you a voicemail but thought I would send an email as well. I'm a researcher with American RadioWorks, a radio documentary program based in St. Paul, MN. We are working on a project about sex trafficking in the U.S. right now that will air on more than 300 stations across the country beginning in May.

As part of this project, we've been looking at some of the arrest numbers for prostitution-related crimes around the country and Arizona jumped out as significantly decreasing its percentage of female arrests in the last 10 years. It went from 72% female in 2004 to 39% in 2014. I know there's been a lot of action in your state around combating this issue and wondered if that was a conscious flip to focus on arresting more buyers and facilitators and fewer women in prostitution.

Is there someone in the governor's office or on the Arizona Human Trafficking Council who would be available for a phone interview about this? And feel free to let me know if there's a different entity or person who would be better suited to address this. I can be reached here by email or by phone at [REDACTED]

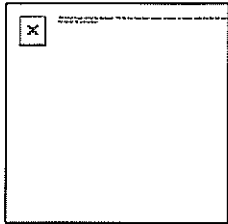

Thanks very much,

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Governor Doug Ducey Launches Special Team To Help Clear Rape Kit Backlog

Team Will Produce Recommendations For Requiring Testing Of Every Rape Kit, Aid In Ensuring Justice For Sexual Assault Victims

PHOENIX – Governor Doug Ducey today announced the members of the Arizona Sexual Assault Evidence Collection Kit Task Force, a bipartisan coalition of victims advocates, law enforcement officials and policy makers tasked with addressing the injustice of untested rape kits throughout Arizona.

Throughout the country – including Arizona – crime labs struggle to keep up with timely testing of the kits, resulting in a backlog of 2,300 untested kits in Maricopa County alone.

"For too long, women across our state have awaited justice for the despicable crimes inflicted upon them, while predators evade the law looking for their next victim," said Governor Ducey. "We must do everything in our power to stand up for those who've been victimized – and that means bringing to bear every resource and taking every necessary action to identify their assailants and lock them behind bars before they harm anyone else."

Governor Ducey charged the task force with multiple responsibilities, which include: providing legislative recommendations to ensure every kit is tested in a timely manner; developing a statewide standard process for testing protocols of the kits; developing a statewide tracking system for the kits; and development of a public education plan to assist sexual assault victims.

Governor Ducey established the task force by Executive Order on January 11, 2016 to address a key priority in his 2016 State of the State address.

Governor Ducey has appointed the following members to the task force:

- Mark Brnovich, Arizona Attorney General
- Representative Kate Brophy McGee, Arizona House of Representatives
- Colleen Clase, Arizona Voice for Crime Victims
- Christina Corieri, Office of Governor Doug Ducey
- Sheriff Mark J. Dannels, Cochise County Sheriff
- Jessie Delmar, Navajo Nation Division of Public Safety

- Senator Katie Hobbs, Arizona State Senate
- Jessye Johnson, Arizona Coalition to End Sexual and Domestic Violence
- Todd Larson, Honor Health
- Barbara LaWall, Pima County Attorney
- Senator Debbie Lesko, Arizona State Senate
- Representative Phil Lovas, Arizona House of Representatives
- Myriah Mhoon, Governor's Office of Youth, Faith and Family
- Colonel Frank Milstead, Department of Public Safety
- Bill Montgomery, Maricopa County Attorney
- Sheila Polk, Yavapai County Attorney
- Mary Roberts, Phoenix Police Department
- Pete Wingert, Paradise Valley Police Department

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Governor Doug Ducey To Kick Off National Red Ribbon Week At State Capitol

Event Will Raise Awareness About Substance Abuse & Addiction In Arizona

PHOENIX – Governor Doug Ducey will officially kick off National Red Ribbon Week, an annual awareness campaign aimed at educating Arizona communities about substance abuse and the stigma associated with addiction, this Thursday at the state Capitol.

The event will highlight substance abuse as a significant public health crisis, and will focus on the importance and availability of prevention, early intervention and treatment.

"Every one of us knows someone who has experienced or been impacted by substance abuse or addiction," said Governor Ducey. "If we're going to be successful in our efforts to combat this disease, we must remove the stigma and eliminate community denial about what addiction is and who it affects. It's time to turn the discussion to prevention, early intervention and treatment, and let those suffering know that they're not alone, and that recovery is possible."

The event, hosted by the Governor's Office of Youth, Faith and Family, will take place on Thursday, October 22, 2015, from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. on the Arizona State Capitol Senate Lawn. All Arizonans are encouraged to attend.

In addition to a keynote address by Governor Ducey, speakers will include Maricopa County Attorney Bill Montgomery and Colonel Frank L. Milstead, director of Arizona Department of Public Safety

Thank you for your response Bob.

I do understand that the grant cycle is competitive and I am looking forward to reviewing the applications.

It has been a very sad week in Yavapai County. One AmeriCorps member who had planned to renew her position with the Senior Peer Program of West Yavapai Guidance Clinic was very distraught to hear of the granting decision. As a Senior Citizen, with little notice she lost her purpose and income. Another AmeriCorps member who was planning to renew with Casa 4Kids stated over and over to Ivy "what am I going to do?" With this decision, she lost her living allowance and her health insurance.

I could go on and on regarding the losses we have listened to people and organizations express. I am attaching two letters that show the impact on partnering organizations that have AmeriCorps members. I am most sad regarding the loss of the outcomes that this project has produced. Community Counts has done an excellent job managing the grant, the program and the members. We have built great momentum for AmeriCorps over the years that will now end.

Merilee,

As you know, submitting an application for AmeriCorps funding through the Governor's Commission on Service and Volunteerism is competitive and funds programs for a three year cycle. There is no guarantee of continued funding from cycle to cycle in a formal, competitive process open to new and former applicants. This year's Request for Grant Application resulted in the receipt of many applications which requested almost double the amount of funds available.

Administering the AmeriCorps grant solicitation process and meeting the Federal regulatory and State statutory requirements involves time with all the complexities of the process. While two weeks' notice before the contract start date poses difficulty for applicants, even though we do our very best, our options can sometimes be limited to provide notification any earlier.

We do understand and acknowledge the difficulty this has caused for you and MATFORCE.

Additionally, with the new administration, interest has been expressed in finding ways to expand AmeriCorps in Arizona. We are currently exploring available options to better leverage AmeriCorps resources at the national level.

I understand through Sarah Bean that you've already scheduled a file review, which is welcomed.

Subject: AmeriCorps Grant
Importance: High

Hi Bob,

I made some of the toughest phone calls I have ever made in my life last night to our AmeriCorps Partners regarding the decline of our AmeriCorps grant application.

We had multiple AmeriCorps members who had plans to renew for another term, these people will now lose their living allowance and health insurance with a two week notice.

This decision is devastating people's lives and the mission of multiple organizations in Yavapai County.

Following are some of the organization who had plans to continue excellent work through their AmeriCorps members: West Yavapai Guidance Clinic, Senior Peer Program, Prescott Area Woman's Shelter, Yavapai Big Brothers/Big Sisters, CASA 4Kids, Yavapai Reentry Project, Beaver Creek Transit, Verde River Greenways, Yarnell Recovery Group. Based on the focus area of substance abuse we had asked a majority of our partners to change the responsibilities of the AmeriCorps member to address this issue. We had recruited multiple new partnering agencies including Disabled American Vets (DAV), Steps to Recovery, and the Teen Launch Pad.

I spoke with Ben Olsen, who did receive AmeriCorps slots in Yavapai County. He said he could possibly find a position for one Partner, Prescott Area Shelter Services, which fills a small hole in a gaping wound for Yavapai County. Ironically Community Counts partnered with Prescott College to start SERVE Yavapai. We are the organization who brought the VISTA program to Yavapai County and ran this project for several years before it went to Prescott College. Ben served as an AmeriCorps member under our organization. Even if Prescott College could fill the slots, how would this be fair to our organization?

Community Counts has successfully ran the AmeriCorps grant for nine years. The agency has done an excellent job and the positive impact in Yavapai County has been vast. Six of our AmeriCorps Members from this year are being hired as employees by the agencies they served. Based on our phone call and email prior to the release of the RFGA, I applied under MATFORCE opposed to Community Counts and again we refocused the program to primarily address substance abuse issues. The effect of this decision on our agencies is also huge. It adversely effects our operating income and the work and salaries of staff. I know we have a unique structure with two agencies, but the quality and impact would not have changed with the grant being under MATFORCE.

We will be requesting a file review and we also are asking Partners and Members to write letters to share the impact that this decision will have on them. Something is wrong with our granting system when organizations receive two weeks' notice for decisions that have this type of impact.

I am sad and bewildered and simply hurt by the devastation to our County that will result from this decision. Substance abuse prevention is key for our communities. If there are any possible solutions or alternatives to this decision, I would greatly appreciate it.

BEAVER CREEK ADULT CENTER, INC.

August 18, 2015

To: The AmeriCorps State Grant Program Application Review Committee
From: Beaver Creek Transit and Food Delivery Service

Dear Committee Members:

Beaver Creek Transit (BCT), a dba of the Beaver Creek Adult Center, was devastated to hear last night that we would not have an AmeriCorps member starting on September 1. Our stipended volunteer was included in the MATFORCE of Yavapai Coalition's application for the AmeriCorps State Grant Program which was just excluded from funding. Without the continued assistance of our member, the assistance that we provide to those in need will be cut in half.

We are a small organization of volunteers working together to distribute food and information about support services to those in need in the Beaver Creek area. The area includes the unincorporated communities of Rimrock, Lake Montezuma and McGuireville which are north of Camp Verde. A part time AmeriCorps member is our only "paid" employee. His youth and energy are of enormous benefit to our clients and to the rest of us volunteers who are mostly retirees. He keeps our vehicles running and takes many of the more difficult driving routes.

Last year our volunteer drivers made more than 900 food deliveries from the Camp Verde 7th Day Adventist Church Food Bank, delivered Meals on Wheels for the Verde Valley Senior Center in Cottonwood, drove a weekly van run to the Cornville Food Bank located in the First Southern Baptist Church, and made two weekly van runs to area grocery stores. In addition we do individual transport to shopping for those who need more assistance and have begun to work with the Yavapai Food Council at the Beaver Creek School Food Bank located in Rimrock. Many of our services are used by seniors or the disabled of all ages. Our priority clients are individuals with no or limited transportation or those whose health needs make shopping or food bank assistance necessary. We also drive residents to medical appointments, counseling, physical therapy and banking as vehicles and volunteer drivers are available.

Our clients include people whose income is marginal, people who have mental health issues, and people who took care of their families and helped others for many years. Residents of all ages receive food and assistance flyers from us.

Two weeks ago Beaver Creek Transit Food Delivery Service received Arizona Community Foundation of Yavapai County acknowledgment for the transformative level of our service. We want to be able to continue to offer the same or improved level of service to this community.

Thank you for your re-consideration of the MATFORCE grant application.

Sincerely,

Janet Aniol, Director
Beaver Creek Transit (dba of Beaver Creek Adult Center, Inc)

Dear Merilee Fowler,

Cortex Clinic

Today was shocking to say the least. The Senior Peer Prevention Program does not receive the funding it is due from the State of Arizona because it is a prevention program. Therefore, the AmeriCorps staff over the past 2 years has been instrumental in the growth we have achieved serving those adults 60 and beyond.

Haddon House

Every day 10,000 people turn 65 and in the Prescott area we already house one of the larger groups of older adults in the State of Arizona. As a rural community our older population tends to be isolated and lonely which translates to increased depression making them more vulnerable to suicide.

Hillside Center

Our program has grown from 11 volunteers in 2013 to 49 in 2015. During the same two year time period new participants have tripled, group meeting attendance is up 30% and educational community presentations have doubled. None of this would have been possible without AmeriCorps volunteers.

Ruth Street Clinic

Because the theme this year was working more aggressively with substance abuse our program fit the bill to a tee. Last year we provided 14 presentations on Prescription Medications and the Older Adult; provided 2800 pieces of educational materials to the public, especially older adults, on the use and abuse of prescription medications; provided radio commercials and news articles in the Daily Courier on the topic.

West Yavapai Primary Care

All of these numbers were tallied and available due to AmeriCorps staff that maintain the data bases and worked tirelessly in putting together a website that informs and educates. Hits to the website quadrupled during the FY2014-2015.

Windham Center

The loss of AmeriCorps personnel will be a devastating blow to our program!

Good afternoon County Attorney Montgomery,

As you are aware, the Arizona Human Trafficking Council (Council) is working to expand Arizona's capacity to serve victims of human trafficking. In particular, it is vital that Arizona's communities have victim-centered protocols for key agencies to ensure a coordinated response to victims of human trafficking. In order to assist with this process the Arizona Human Trafficking Council is developing a statewide model protocol that will serve as a roadmap of best practices that can be modified depending on the unique needs of individual jurisdictions within Arizona.

The first step to developing the Model Protocol for Arizona is creating a framework and receiving input and feedback from select stakeholders. The Council's Victim Services Committee, Chaired by County Attorney Sheila Polk, would like to invite you to assist in this important process. We will be holding the first stakeholder meeting on Tuesday, August 18 from 1:00-3:00pm at the Governor's Office. I will be following-up this email with an Outlook invitation. We hope that you will be able to join us, please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Hello Sheila,

I certainly understand your concern and of course I want to meet with you and your amazing team. As you can imagine, many changes are occurring for a variety of reasons. I am happy to share with you the changes thus far. I do have another meeting literally on the 21st which may in fact provide more clarity to the entire situation.

Would your team be available to meet at 3:00 on the 23rd? Due to Parent Commission sub-grantee training and other previous obligations that is our first available time. I hope that will work.

I have every reason to believe that we can work through this transition together and I look forward to seeing you.

Hi Debbie,

I hope this email finds you well.

I am writing to see if you are available to meet with the Co-Chairs and Executive Director of MATFORCE, our Yavapai County Substance Abuse Coalition, during the afternoon of Thursday, July 23. We are requesting the meeting to discuss with you our concern over our grant funding from the Strategic Prevention Framework Partnerships for Success (SPF PFS). All three of us reside in northern Arizona and will be in Phoenix on that date.

For the past two years MATFORCE has had a contract with NARBHA for PFS funding at $125,000 annually ($14,000 of the amount was paid by NARBHA to a program evaluator). In the original award letter we received from NARBHA it states that the PFS grant is a five-year award. A copy of our award letter is attached.

We were very recently notified that the funding will no longer be distributed through NARBHA. No one can give us a clear answer on whether we will continue to receive the funds as awarded to our coalition nor can anyone tell us how the funds are to be distributed. This uncertainty is concerning as the MATFORCE Board of Directors recently approved our budget for fiscal year 2015-16 dependent upon our receipt of the SPF PFS funds.

The two Co-Chairs of MATFORCE, Doug Bartosh (the Cottonwood City Manager) and I, along with our Executive Director Merilee Fowler, would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you so that we can get to the bottom of this funding uncertainty and report back to our Board in a timely manner.

Thank you in advance and best regards,

Sheila Polk
Yavapai County Attorney

Hi Debbie,
I am leaving Tucson at 830 to drive my youngest daughter off to college on CA. An emotional day for sure!
We will be taking a couple of breaks along the way so I will try you at a point where I can talk (and focus).
Thanks!
Amy

Hi Megan,

I am not sure that I completely understand and want to make sure that I understand what you are saying here..

Your email seems to advise us that "you" cannot attend. When we spoke last you said that the speakers would be Seth, you and another gentleman from Axiom. Are Seth and the other gentleman you spoke of ok to have present?

I am confused if it is Axiom or ARDP that should not be speaking to Coalitions?

As we discussed- the Goal of this was to educate Prevention Coalitions on the Harms and Consequences messaging that we can use safely so that we do not cross over into any area that would be not allowed, being that we are funded by public tax dollars as a nonprofit.

In light of your response- I am unclear as to what we should be doing now, or not doing.

Debbie- can you please help us here? The issue is that prevention folks want to do a good job with the MJ prevention messaging and multiply the impact by sharing ideas of how to do the best messaging (who to target, where, etc...).

We all know the harms and consequences side but are a little unclear about what we can and can't do. Like alcohol or any other drug we do this all the time- but, in light of the issue being on the ballot- we all felt it was good to have a little more training.

Do you have someone at the GOYFF that can come and help train folks? What do you suggest?

Thanks so much.

Hi Amy,

I spoke with Debbie Moak this morning about getting the prevention communities involved in our efforts. Because of your holding a federal grant, I am going to step out of the planning for the event on August 23rd. I know that the Governor's office does MJ training along with all of their other training in addition to all of their other trainings. Debbie and I think that it would be safer to have ARDP step out and you and Debbie handle it from here

Please feel free to give me updates as we will still be in the area and I need to know if we are still expected to be in attendance. Unfortunately though, the planning aspect must be handled through non-campaign avenues.

Regards,

Megan Fitzgerald

Describe how the nominee has advanced public policy in the state: Although Arizonan's can tune in to hear Mr. Leibsohn's nightly program, his most recent engagement as Chair for Arizonan's for Responsible Drug Policy is most impressive. Regardless of where you stand on this issue, no one can deny the fortitude that Seth has shown in his leadership on this issue.

Detail community service or pro bono work the nominee has performed that goes above and beyond the minimum requirement: Mr. Leibsohn has shown remarkable work in the area of substance abuse prevention both as Chairman of the Board at notMYkid, and as the Chair for ARDP. In 1992, nearly ten times the number of Americans reported using alcohol as used marijuana on a daily or near daily basis. By 2014, the ratio had fallen below 2 to 1. That's because daily or near daily marijuana users increased 770% over that time.

"If we continue down a 'regulate like alcohol' legalization path, which allows for-profit corporations to produce, distribute, and promote marijuana, in 25 years the public health community and some of the public may be asking those of us living in 2016, 'What were you thinking? Why did you think it was a good idea to create another industry whose profits depend on promoting daily and near daily use of a dependence-inducing intoxicant?'"

Manufacturing Consent -- to Legal Marijuana

9:02 AM, MAR 30, 2016 | By DAVID W. MURRAY

In this political season, the results of polling have proven as problematic as they have consequential. Questions of validity increasingly plague polls at the very moment that the body politic most bends to their will (or to that of the media outlets reporting on them).

Moreover, media increasingly adopt a strategy of first framing and then reporting public attitudes, at times appearing to shape polling outcomes while claiming to be merely mirroring them.

A case in point is the latest polling news on public attitudes towards legal marijuana, as reported by the Washington Post. Support has reached its highest level ever, according to the latest survey conducted by the Associated Press in conjunction with the National Opinion Research Center (NORC), reaching 61 percent of 1,042 respondents in favor.

But there is less here than meets the eye. For instance, the previous high point of approval ratings, 58 percent as detected by Gallup, is a finding within this poll's margin of sample error (3.9 percent). That is, the result represents, technically, "no change" from a statistical point of view.

But that was not the perspective of the media, whose enthusiasm approached "agenda journalism," the kind that celebrates every outcome favoring the journalist's preferred stance, while denigrating or ignoring contrary evidence.

They should have been more cautious. Consider that of the 639 people who supported legal marijuana, only 33 percent of them thought access should be "unrestricted," while for 24 percent, their support was contingent on there being "a medical prescription."

The framing of this last response is itself misleading, in that the question illegitimately implies that marijuana is an "approved" medication, able to be prescribed, which is true nowhere in the country.

Further, the poll's demographics are suspect, such as in their assignment of political affiliation. In this poll, only 35 percent of respondents are either "Republican or Lean Republican." The comparable Democratic percentage is set at 48 percent.

Given the finding in Quinnipiac polling that Democratic support in Colorado for legal marijuana (74 percent) is higher than that of Republicans (36 percent), this 13-point lean towards Democrats may shade results.

But the most surprising feature of the sample can be found with regards to employment. Fully 43 percent of respondents are not employed (school-aged 18-24 year olds are only 12 percent of the total).

This distribution may be a function of the real Achilles heel of the survey – the response rates, which attained a "cumulative response rate" of only 10.5 percent. That is, the survey had to winnow through a hundred contacted persons in order to measure the actual attitude of fewer than eleven. A similar, largely hidden fault now threatens nearly all political polls.

The lesson is that a survey meant to represent overall American attitudes has non-response rates that may yield a non-representative group of people – here, it is those not in the workforce, and hence, available for surveys such as this. It is possible that people not in the workforce have different attitudes regarding the acceptability of drug use than do the employed, a conjecture buttressed by the strong association between actual drug use and non-employment status.

There is finally the selective reporting by the media on the contents of the poll. Only the positive marijuana attitudes were reported, while the actual survey contained considerably more news, and much of it negative regarding legal drugs.

First, a remarkable 43 percent reported "a relative or close friend" with a substance use problem. Moreover, several Administration positions regarding the current epidemic of opiate dependency and overdose deaths did not receive support.

Fully 67 percent thought that doctors were not "a cause or only a minor cause" for the current epidemic of opiate dependency and overdoses, notwithstanding Administration arguments to the contrary. And while distributing the overdose antidote Naloxone was supported, 57 percent believed that it should require a doctor's prescription. (Regrettably, a much-needed policy to reduce the drug supply was not a provided survey question option.)

Nearly 70 percent agreed that drug use treatment needs improvement, yet 61 percent wanted more effort to "crack down on drug dealers" (and 53 percent supported "cracking down on users"), running contrary to Administration sentiments that "we can't arrest our way out of the drug problem."

Finally, even though there are now multiple advocacy calls for the government to establish "safe" injection facilities or even the provision of heroin itself for heroin treatment, only 7 percent (69 people) in this poll thought that heroin or cocaine should be legal, while 73 percent of even those supporters thought that there should be "restrictions."

None of these issues or responses was mentioned in the Post story. Instead, we find the typical self-confirming spiral regarding marijuana legalization. In Gallup polls, support for legal marijuana hovered in the 30 percent range until 2009, when it finally rose higher than 40 percent. Since then, a steady drumbeat of news accounts has relentlessly driven higher the attitudes that are conducive to Obama Administration positions, followed by "news" chronicling this higher public support, as ostensibly shown by polls.

This polling/reporting news cycle, one realizes, owes more to politics than to science.

Subject: ARDP Advocacy Meetings

Hello Merilee et al;

I attended the advocacy meeting last Thursday and wanted to thank you for pulling it together. I realize you all have full time jobs and that these are all volunteer efforts on your parts. I'm also a friend of Jo McGuire and we spent some time together regarding her state's issues a couple of days prior to this meeting so everything was timely. I have a few requests and would like to share some thoughts since we had the meeting:

1. If I may, I would like to get a few of the slides that came from Sheila's presentation that specifically pointed out areas of the initiative. I have several speaking engagements lined up with various employer groups and coalitions. I'd prefer NOT to reinvent the wheel. The high level talking points are fine but I like to educate at a deeper level and Sheila had some good slides regarding the language in the initiative.
2. What are plans to continue the advocacy meetings around the valley? I asked Merilee and she mentioned a training in June for debates. What about March-May?
3. Also, someone mentioned a few times that this was a bi-partisan issue. I agree on this approach but I do not feel it appears bi-partisan when held at the Republican Party headquarters. We won't get the support or attendance of those outside the Republican Party if it's held there. Any plans of another venue that is more like Switzerland?
4. There were good questions and opinions offered at the session by those that attended but I was interested in knowing who was in the room and how we could collaborate efforts to mobilize faster. I would suggest a more open forum introduction time to get people talking.
5. Are there plans to discuss via radio, tv, local segments, etc?
6. Jo McGuire told me she's offered up her help to fight this, are we taking advantage of her knowledge and help?

I appreciate your thoughts, direction and I will offer up any help that I can give in addition to my own speaking efforts around the valley. I am speaking on Feb 25th to a coalition in Tempe and I'd like to give an effective presentation on what's inside of this initiative and be prepared before Feb 25th. If anyone is interested in speaking with me, I'd be open to a tag team.

Thank you and I look forward to hearing back.

Best,
Gina

KELLY, I am not sure if i sent my notice properly. I was trying to send a letter to the people i can reach out to, so i sent it to you with a BCC to the others. Forgive me, the company i founded and developed for thirty years used IBM AS400 and comm systems. Now i have an IMAC and am using gmail. Is there a better way to send to multiples without listing the individuals. ???

By the way, so far, i have learned that there are quite a few people who instantly responded to this notice with the comment. "I think not only that we should legalize marijuana, but all drugs!" Frankly, from just sending an invitation to a learning event/party, i wasn't expecting this type of speed response, particularly from the old Harvard people.

I think, though, that i learned something about people: there is a big old batch of crazies!. Best not to make eye contact with them, Kippy.

I NEED YOU!!!!!! I know that you are committed to the future of Arizona!

As adults, we will probably be voting on legalizing Marijuana for Recreational use here in our state!

I am a child of the sixties, and i realize the impetus on making this substance legal and accessible. I do not think it should be a crime for an adult citizen to smoke pot, it is your choice as an American. The problem is, this vote changes little as far as access is concerned EXCEPT to the young in our community.

As you all know, i have dedicated the last thirty years to substance abuse prevention in the ten to twenty-one year old age group.

We need your support!!! I am attaching a letter from Governor Doug Ducey to me regarding a meeting/fund raiser we are sponsoring.

Forget about politics, remember these facts!!!!

One-to the youth, ANY altering substance is a GATEWAY DRUG. Making any drug more accessible and acceptable to the youth is a mistake!!!!

Two-substance abuse is on the increase in Arizona. Some NICU and ER doctors refer to the level of overdoses and addicted newborns as being an EPIDEMIC!!

Three-It would be nice for revenues in Arizona to have some new commodity to tax, but ask yourself this. "Who has a vested interest in legalizing recreational pot?" Why come to our state?"

Four-Colorado residents approved recreational marijuana, now they have massive programs to prevent pot smoking among youth? Yes, it was a mistake.

I am a Hoosier, from Indiana. We have a saying about closing the gate after the cows have already left. Let's close the gate now!

Please come to this meet and greet at Jim Chamberlains house on Feb. Eighteenth, and or send in some money. We need you!!

I have attached some items.

EMAIL

Dear Kip ,

We write to inform you of a potential 2016 ballot initiative that would pose a radical change in Arizona's health, education, welfare, and employment policies.

National, well-financed, pro-drug lobbies have efforts underway to undo decades of Arizona's anti-drug and substance abuse policies, beginning with an effort to legalize marijuana. We cannot let this happen. Thankfully, a group is stepping forward to lead the opposition.

Arizonans for Responsible Drug Policy (ARDP) is led by an all-volunteer team of prevention, legal, and substance abuse experts. They have been active around the state and have been working with the media to expose the dangers such a radical policy change would pose to Arizona businesses and families.

While there are many organizations involved in this effort, we support ARDP for taking the lead to fight the campaign for drug legalization. The stakes could not be greater—just look at what legalization has meant in Colorado: It is now the top marijuana-using state in the nation; teen use of marijuana is over 70 percent higher than the rest of the nation. And, in its first year of legalization, positive testing for marijuana among employees in Colorado increased 20 percent compared to a national average of five percent in the same year. This is not what we want for Arizona.

But, with your help, we can keep Arizona away from dangerous policies. Please consider attending a reception on February 18th with other business leaders to learn more. Attached is the invitation with full details. If you are ready to help, you may make a donation to our friends at Arizonans for Responsible Drug Policy by check or online at <http://www.arizonansforresponsibledrugpolicy.org/donate/> . Arizonans For Responsible Drug Policy is leading the efforts in educating the public of the harms and dangers marijuana legalization will pose to our state, our schools, our hospitals, welfare agencies, and businesses.

Thank you for your consideration and all of your help in keeping Arizona safe.

Sincerely,

Governor Doug Ducey Hon. Jon Kyl

I am fired(bad word choice there) up about this pot thing and hope we can all rally around the not passing it in November.

They will have the ability to use power point (we will have screen and all the av equipment) Some of the slides I saw yesterday were heartbreaking.

Anything else you need let me know.

Saturday September 17 - we will be in Hall G.

Hi Debbie,

The negative impact of this decision on Yavapai County is unfathomable and makes no sense. We have been the gold standard for this program for the last 9 years.

I am trying not to rush to judgment but I cannot help but think this is somehow related to MATFORCE's leadership on the marijuana issue.

I will be at the Child Sex Trafficking meeting today from 1 to 3 at your offices. Can you meet with me either before or after?

Subject: AmeriCorps Grant

Hi Bob,

I made some of the toughest phone calls I have ever made in my life last night to our AmeriCorps Partners regarding the decline of our AmeriCorps grant application.

We had multiple AmeriCorps members who had plans to renew for another term, these people will now lose their living allowance and health insurance with a two week notice.

This decision is devastating people's lives and the mission of multiple organizations in Yavapai County.

Following are some of the organization who had plans to continue excellent work through their AmeriCorps members: West Yavapai Guidance Clinic, Senior Peer Program, Prescott Area Woman's Shelter, Yavapai Big Brothers/Big Sisters, CASA 4Kids, Yavapai Reentry Project, Beaver Creek Transit, Verde River Greenways, Yarnell Recovery Group. Based on the focus area of substance abuse we had asked a majority of our partners to change the responsibilities of the AmeriCorps member to address this issue. We had recruited multiple new partnering agencies including Disabled American Vets (DAV), Steps to Recovery, and the Teen Launch Pad.

I spoke with Ben Olsen, who did receive AmeriCorps slots in Yavapai County. He said he could possibly find a position for one Partner, Prescott Area Shelter Services, which fills a small hole in a gaping wound for Yavapai County. Ironically Community Counts partnered with Prescott College to start SERVE Yavapai. We are the organization who brought the VISTA program to Yavapai County and ran this project for several years before it went to Prescott College. Ben served as an AmeriCorps member under our organization. Even if Prescott College could fill the slots, how would this be fair to our organization?

Community Counts has successfully run the AmeriCorps grant for nine years. The agency has done an excellent job and the positive impact in Yavapai County has been vast. Six of our AmeriCorps Members from this year are being hired as employees by the agencies they served. Based on our phone call and email prior to the release of the RFGA, I applied under MATFORCE opposed to Community Counts and again we refocused the program to primarily address substance abuse issues. The effect of this decision on our agencies is also huge. It adversely effects our operating income and the work and salaries of staff. I know we have a unique structure with two agencies, but the quality and impact would not have changed with the grant being under MATFORCE.

We will be requesting a file review and we also are asking Partners and Members to write letters to share the impact that this decision will have on them. Something is wrong with our granting system when organizations receive two weeks' notice for decisions that have this type of impact.

I am sad and bewildered and simply hurt by the devastation to our County that will result from this decision. Substance abuse prevention is key for our communities. If there are any possible solutions or alternatives to this decision, I would greatly appreciate it.
